THE 2006 LONG TERM CARE INTERNATIONAL FORUM

Leading the Long Term Care Industry Since 1992

This Year It's Vegas!

Join Us April 26th — 28th for the 13th Annual Long Term Care International Forum

THE MISSION:

The Long Term Care International Forum is a voluntary, not-for-profit organization whose purpose is: to promote efficiency, effectiveness and high standards of performance in long term care insurance; to provide a forum for research, education, personal development and the exchange of ideas relating to various aspects of long term care administration.

Discussion or actions in restraint of free trade or in violation of federal antitrust laws are forbidden.

Membership shall be open to all persons, corporations or organizations dedicated to the purpose of the association.

A GRASSROOTS BEGINNING

The forum started simply as a focus group of those interested in long term care at the annual meeting of a major information vendor to the insurance industry. Further sponsored by major reinsurers and other vendors, by 1994 the group had its own meeting agenda and separate guest speakers.

As the industry and group grew, leaders within the group recognized the need to split off and incorporated as the Long Term Care International Forum on April 11th, 2000 as a not-for-profit trade association. Further growth was realized in November 2005 when LTCIF merged with National Long Term Care Association, another industry association dedicated to advancing the LTC insurance.

Today, the LTCIF is a leader in promoting efficiency, effectiveness and high standards in long term care insurance. Volunteers put together our Annual Forums which boasts the involvement of about 50 insurers, vendors, and service providers and even more individuals and volunteers — all dedicated to promoting a healthy long term care insurance industry.

THE LTCIF AND YOU

The long term care insurance industry is both growing and changing rapidly. Sharing ideas, learning what works . . . and perhaps what doesn't, is key to the industry's health and future. Quite simply the LTCIF provides a unique intimate "Forum" to allow the industry's underwriters, claims, and administrators share in education, best practices, personal development, and growth.

Forum programs are not just directed at the senior vice presidents levels — though we have our share. Our programs are structured around participant involvement, and topics most shops are facing in their day to day operations. In short the LTCIF Forum is that perfect mix for those "up & comers" within your organization, to your frontline operations people, right up to the vice president levels. Conference costs are low, site selections while elegant are reasonably priced so everyone can participate!

We invite you to come and grow with us! Become part of a great industry resource — network of your peers — join us and become part of the LTC industry's future!
